Senator Charges Soviet Buildup in Cuba Continues

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kenneth Keating, a man with a satchel full of information, is keeping the Kennedy administration hopping overtime with his charges of Soviet arms buildup in Cuba.

For more than six months the red-haired, ruddy-faced New York Republican has been rising in the Senate to announce ominous Communist developments in Cuba. Time and again the Pentagon and State Department have challenged his information, only to have to concede later that Keating was at least basically right.

Sunday night Keating claimed in a television interview that Soviet troops in Cuba now number about 10 times as many as were estimated by officials to be there last July. This would bring the current Soviet strength to about 90,000.

Assistant Secretary of State Edwin Martin, who appeared on ABC "Issues and Answers" with Keating, cautioned that estimates of Soviet troops in Cuba last July were not too accurate but said Keating's claim "is within the range of possibility."

Last week Keating told the Senate there is "continuing, absolute confirmed and undeniable evidence that the Soviets are maintaining" the missile bases that were involved in last October's quarantine crisis.

He said he believes there is "the very real possibility" that the Soviets either hope to return missiles to the island or have missiles left there "and need only to wheel them out of caves."

Keating's charge that the bases have not been dismantled was challenged promptly by the Defense Department and White House press secretary Pierre Salinger.

Keating's colleagues know him as a merry fellow, quick with a quip, a pleasant companion. Some of them are aware that he is a setting up exercise enthusiast, that he drinks a health concoction of honey and vinegar each morning.

Where does he get his information? With the possible exception of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, Keating is not a member of any committee in which intelligence information would be available to him.

Keating won't tell where he gets the information that has proved to be remarkably correct in several critical instances.

They were in the Gulf of Mexico about 40 minutes before a Coast Guard cutter, hampered by 25-foot waves, could pull them to safety.

In all, eight men lashed together with a rope were hoisted from the Gulf about 25 miles offshore Sunday by the Coast Guard cutter Nike.

Two of the eight were dead. The body of a ninth crewman, who had been knocked off the line during the rescue operation, was recovered several hours later.

The dead were Willard Hull, 41, and Archie Wilson, 41, both of Pensacola, Fla., and Wesley Eli Hasset, 35, of Theodore, Ala.

The skipper, Max Alford, 43, suffered broken ribs.

Treated for shock and exposure and released were John Summers, 35; John Grey, 43; John Tucker, 49; David Grigg, 21; and C. G. Smith, 50, all of Pensacola.

The men had been aboard the 37-foot Sea Horse, out of Bayou La Batre, Ala. She left that port Saturday.

Smith said the trawler began shipping water about 6:30 p.m. that day.

A gale-like north wind hit them that night, and the Sea Horse headed for port.

After the Nike showed up at 2:50 a.m. Sunday, the crewmen, with lifebelts on, lashed themselves together and went overboard seconds before the Sea Horse sank.

Senate Still Hasn't Been Organized

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new Senate convened Jan. 9 and now, 26 days later, it has yet to organize itself. Some committees are meeting but so far as legislation goes, the senators might just as well have stayed at home.

The reason: a fight over filibusters that is heading into its fourth week with no sure promise that it will be resolved early.

What's the disagreement about? Limitation of debate under the present setup, two-thirds of the senators voting would have to approve before talk could be chalked off. Those pressing for a change would have a majority of the Senate's 100 members or at least three-fifths of those voting empowered to halt debate.

Is this strictly a parliamentary question? No. Proponents of a rule change see it as the avenue to civil rights legislation, long blocked by filibustering Southerners. Opponents of change stress the cherished tradition that the Senate is one place where the views of all may be freely aired.

Is this purely a fight of liberal vs. conservative, Democrat vs. Republican? No. While most liberals want a change and most conservatives do not, a key vote last Thursday found several liberals voting against antifilibuster action. Similarly, Democrats were just about evenly divided; two-thirds of the Republicans voted against action, one-third for.

Where does President Kennedy stand? He has said the issue should be settled by the Senate itself.

What's the next order of business? Still pending is a motion by Sen. Clinton Anderson, D-N.M., to take up his proposal to allow three-fifths of the senators voting to halt debate. Neither this proposed change nor the majority vote favored by Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and others has been brought before the Senate.

The next move could be an attempt to table Anderson's motion. If it carries, said one source, "the ax would fall on the whole thing."

Faubus Is Now a Grandfather

HUNTSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—"I'm prouder than when I was elected governor."

That's how Gov. Orval E. Faubus expressed his feelings about becoming a grandfather.

Mrs. Farrell Faubus, wife of the governor's son, gave birth Saturday night to Para Elizabeth Faubus. She weighed eight pounds 14½ ounces.

Doctors said mother and child were doing well in a hospital here. "I'm afraid I'll spoil her if I stay here long," Mrs. (Orval) Faubus said.

She said the governor spent most of the day at the hospital with his daughter - in - law and grandchild.

"We've already been wanting to take the baby home with us," Mrs. Faubus said.

The next pickup will be March 31st. This will be the start in clean up, paint up and beautify time and will give residents of Hope a chance to get an early start on their project.

West Hit by Cold But Many Areas Warmer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A fresh mass of cold air ended a brief warming spell in the western third of the nation today but temperatures rose sharply in the Midwest and Western regions.

Zero or below temperatures were confined mostly to areas in New England and New York State but the cold air mass covered most sections east of the Appalachians.

The mercury plunged to 23 below zero in Burlington, Vt., and -22 in Lebanon, N.H. It was 10 below in Caribou, Maine, which was hit by a nine-inch snowfall, and -15 in Concord, N.H. Some of the cold spots in New York State included -20 in Massena; Plattsburgh, -13; Glens Falls, -12; and Elmira, -3. It was zero in Hartford, Conn.

Warmer air from the Pacific Coast spread across the Rockies through much of the Great Lakes region. The warming trend in the Midwest followed subzero cold in most areas Sunday morning.

It was 2 below in International Falls, Minn., compared to a low of -32 Sunday morning. Chicago's 21 compared to 5 below 24 hours earlier.

Colder, drier air moved into the Southeast, replacing the foggy, rainy weather in most areas. Thunderstorms and heavy rains hit areas in the northern half of Florida. More than three inches of rain doused Jacksonville, a record for a 24-hour period in February.

Temperatures dropped to 20 above or lower in mountain areas and to near freezing or below in the interior of the Gulf states, the Carolinas and the northern half of Georgia.

Light rain fell in the Pacific Northwest coastal areas while rivers which threatened many towns in Southern Idaho receded.

Higher temperatures melted snow and ice in Washington, causing some flooding in Colfax. Some highways in the area were closed.

Canada's Chief of Defense Has Quit Cabinet

By MAX HARRELSON

OTTAWA (AP)—The Canadian Cabinet fell apart today. Defense Minister Douglas Harkness, an advocate of nuclear weapons for Canada, resigned and indicated that dissolution of Parliament is near.

Such dissolution would bring April elections, with Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker seeking to restore his Conservative party to a clear-cut majority in Parliament.

Harkness in resigning said his and Diefenbaker's views were irreconcilable.

"For over two years you have been aware that I believed warheads should be supplied to the four weapons systems we have acquired which are adapted to their use," Harkness told Diefenbaker. "Throughout this period I believed that they would be authorized at the appropriate time."

"During the last two weeks particularly, I have made absolutely clear what I considered the minimum position I could accept, and several times have offered to resign unless it was agreed to."

"It has become quite obvious during the last few days that your views and mine as to the course we should pursue for the acquisition of nuclear weapons for our armed forces are not capable of reconciliation. Thus it is with a great deal of regret that I now find I must tender my resignation as minister of national defense."

"Until the last few weeks I enjoyed my 5½ years as a member of your government and trust I have made some contribution to it and to Canada."

Harkness said he sent the resignation to the Prime Minister Sunday, along with a memorandum.

Many State Students Are Handicapped

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Department of Education estimates that there are some 55,549 handicapped students attending school in Arkansas.

This number was gained through projection of figures from a survey of 14 school districts by the Education Department and examination of 26,789 children.

The defects included speech, vision, hearing, mental and limbs.

In the survey, mental handicaps or learning difficulties accounted for the largest number of defects among both white and Negro students. A total of 881 of the 2,999 white students surveyed showed some mental difficulty while 177 of the 4,699 Negro students surveyed showed some mental trouble.

Second in number were speech defects. The survey showed that of those surveyed, 758 white students and 116 Negro students had trouble with speech. Vision defects were third, crippling defects fourth and hearing defects fifth.

The survey showed a larger percentage of white students (3.99) suffered from mental handicaps than Negro children at 3.77. Negroes also had a lower rate of speech defects at 2.47 than did white children at 3.43.

Negro children led by fractions of a percent in the vision, hearing and crippling defect categories.

The survey showed that vision handicaps occur most frequently in the 12-year-old group and least frequently among 7-year-olds. Hearing handicaps are highest among six-year-olds and lowest among 13-year-olds. Physical handicaps occur most often in 17-year-olds and least often in 14-year-olds; speech handicaps are most frequent in six-year-olds and least frequent in 16-year-olds and the 12-year-olds have most mental problems while the seven-year-olds have the fewest.

Some 33 state and private health and welfare agencies and associations assisted in the survey.

School districts involved were Clinton, Crossett, Dell, Fayetteville, Horatio, Newport, Paris, Pocahontas, Prescott, Searcy, Jonesboro, Lamar, Stuttgart and Wilmar.

The education department said the report will provide a basis for local school districts to develop an educational program that will more nearly provide for the needs of the handicapped child.

Adenauer Says DeGaulle Asks Help From U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer says French President Charles de Gaulle "is absolutely in favor of cooperation with the United States."

"For he is as convinced as myself that cooperation with the United States is vital to Europe and vital to the United States," Adenauer said in a copyright interview in U.S. News & World Report, published today. He was interviewed at Bonn last Tuesday by Kurt Lachmann of the magazine's international staff.

As for the split in the Western alliance, Adenauer said the first step toward restoring unity should be "to gain time so that the excitement can calm down. Decisions taken in an excited mood usually are false."

The West German leader said he is convinced, though he has not talked about it with De Gaulle, "that one day France and the United States will come to an agreement on the Polar missile."

Last month, De Gaulle, bent on an independent French nuclear force, turned down President Kennedy's offer of Polar missiles. Kennedy insisted on the condition that the force created by the missiles be assigned to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Adenauer also indicated that France's blocking of British membership in the Common Market is not irrevocable.

State to Lose One Battalion of Guards

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas will lose one non-divisional artillery battalion in the proposed National Guard reorganization but no one knows what unit it will be nor its location.

The state has five non-divisional artillery units located at Harrison, Fayetteville, Fort Smith, Paragould and West Memphis.

Jonesboro's 875th Engineer Battalion would apparently be converted to an Engineer Combat Battalion. One unit of the battalion is headquartered at Stuttgart.

Arkansas Adjutant General Sherman T. Clinger said Saturday that the 39th Division, which Arkansas shares with Louisiana, will be reorganized and some units converted when the new proposal becomes effective. In this manner, he said, the state hopes to save a unit for every location where the guard is now established.

Gov. Orval Faubus, after a conference Friday with Guard officials, said the state would lose a heavy construction engineer battalion at Jonesboro.

Actually, the unit will not be lost. The personnel will probably be transferred on paper to another unit with a different military job—combat engineers—but the unit, under a new name, will remain in Jonesboro. It apparently will have about the same number of men but there has been no official word on this.

A combat engineer battalion would apparently be more limited in the scope of its activities. Such a unit supports an army in the field by building bridges, roads and air strips and are trained to fight as infantrymen if needed. The 875th is not trained in this area.

The Military Department has tentatively scheduled the reorganization in May.

Faubus Will Push for Bill on Insurance

LITTLE ROCK (A) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today that he would continue to push for a law to require foreign insurance companies to invest in Arkansas despite opposition from the insurance industry.
Three insurance investment bills have been introduced, two in the Senate and one in the House. All three are administration bills.
Faubus said he preferred a Senate bill by Sens. Olen Hendrix of Prescott and Nathan Coulter of Nashville. The Hendrix-Coulter bill is a duplicate of a House bill by Woodruff County Rep. Jack Oakes, except that it liberalizes the list of approved investments.
Both bills would require a foreign insurance company to invest 50 per cent of the reserves on policies issued or renewed in Arkansas after Jan. 1, 1963, within the state.
The bills provide for an increase of one-half to one per cent in the premium tax for companies which do not comply with the investment provision.
The third bill, by Sen. J. Lee Bearden of Leachville, would give insurance companies three years to invest 75 per cent of all reserves in Arkansas policies or lose the right to do business in Arkansas.
Faubus also said he favors a bill by Sen. E. L. Mosley of Camden to require foreign insurance companies to deposit $50,000 worth of securities with the insurance commissioner to guarantee payment of claims by Arkansas customers.
"We had this provision for 60 years up to the adoption of the uniform insurance code in 1959," Faubus said. "I don't see how anyone could object to this guarantee for Arkansans who buy insurance."

DR. PRUITT'S BODY

By Kenneth O. Hay

Matt stopped at an all-night body works and left his car for repairs. The right rear window still contained that bullet hole and Suzy had touched his pride when she spoke to him about the dents in his fenders. The dents didn't properly belong on his expensive account, but Magnetic had gotten off easily thus far and he didn't want Bradley to feel as though the Matt Bacon's services were cheap.

The proprietor of the body works said the fenders could be ironed out pretty quick, but he didn't have window glass in stock and couldn't get it at this hour. Matt would have to wait till the next day to get his car. "Insurance job?" he asked.

Matt shook his head. "Cash. Do a good job."

He took a taxi to the Fremont hotel. The desk clerk had a phone number for Matt to call and gave it to him, with a somber look which took in the blood on Matt's shirt. Matt went up to his room. He stripped off his underwear and then put the all through the hotel switchboard. A man answered.

"This is Matt Bacon," said the detective. "You called me?"

"Yeah, man. This is Fred Bernard."

It was the beady-eyed little man who worked in the Apple Building. The plant stoolie. The man also whose time card had been appropriated the evening previous. "Oh yes, Fred, I remember you."

"Yeah. We met already. Sorry I slipped you a dirty chin at the lab yesterday. Didn't know you was a private dick. Figured you was a smart punk tryin' to start a lunch-hour crap game or somethin'. But the big go-round in the Time Office tipped me."

"Sure Fred," Matt wiggled his bare toes and thought of a big steak.

I had me a ball tryin' to find out where you live. Like the toughest. I left word at the cop roost for you to call. Didn't Clague's brigade pass the sign?"

"They did, but I was busy and didn't stop at the Security Office till after five. You'd gone home then," said Matt. "I thought I could see you tomorrow. Is it something that can't wait?"

"It's cool and level. Mister. Like you gotta know quick. I called Suzy Stevenson. The doll, like wow man, that sits on Bradley's knee. She tags your roost with schmaltz in her voice, but I shut her off. Said it was front office stuff, like big business."

"Cool man," said Bacon. "Slip me the lip."

"About Pruitt's time ticket, boy I figured it had you all mixed. Then I remembered. It fell right off the sky." Apparently Bernard was relishing the telling of the tale. It gave him a feeling of importance.

"Can't you tell me over the phone?"

Disappointment crept into Bernard's voice as he replied: "Well, maybe. But I've got a couple of cans of suds in the icebox."

"I've been doing some hard work," said Matt. "I'm beat. I don't want to go out tonight. Besides my car's in the body works and I'd have to take a taxi. Give it to me over the phone, and I'll be forever obliged. Maybe I'll buy you a beer sometime."

"I learn you are tied to an expense account," said Bernard.

Matt got the subtle hint in Bernard's voice. "I'll slip you a fin tomorrow," he said. "And if the information helps solve anything, I'll give you a double saw." That good old expense account.

"Thirty," said Bernard, "and you talk like my language."

"If it's worth it," said Matt. "Then bend your ear. I work in the warehouse, which is like a squat T behind the Appliance Building, banana in color. The top of the T is like right next door to the North Gate Time Office."

"Yes, I know."

"Proceeding. Late in the day before I go home to the little nest, I go loose. Not goodin' off, you understand, but not exactly go-go. That is where I am the afternoon it happened in Pruitt."

"Last Thursday?"

Los Angeles Sign Hurlers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Angels announced today that pitchers Jack Spring, Julio Navarro, and Gordon Richardson have signed their 1963 contracts.

"Like you looked at the calendar," said Bernard. "Like summer time, when windows are open, I know when it is 4:30 and time to yawn off. I hear the early birds punch out in the Time Office. Bells chimin' like good. Last Thursday I hear a time puncher and I says, Freddie Man, the time goeth. But when I look at my watch it is only four o'clock. Five minutes off, for exactly. Like nobody leaves that early, less they're sick or fired already. So I make the amble to the window and try to see who cops an early sneak. I hear the puncher ring again. I tell the id maybe a clock has gone nuts and rings to itself, or maybe I have gone nuts and hear things, because there is from nobody in the Time Office that I can see. It's nowhere man."

of many countries. Another was the U.S.-Soviet crisis over Cuba. Others were the efforts to get invasion prisoners and Americans out of Cuba. The longshoremen's strike was another factor.

It is known also that there is a split opinion within the U.S. government as to how effective a shipping order would be, and that several maritime countries have been cool to the idea.

Under the original four-point plan outlined by U.S. authorities last October:

1. U.S. ports would be closed to the ships of any country whose vessels carry arms to Cuba.

2. U.S. government cargoes would be denied to the ships of any company whose vessels are used in the Cuba-bloc trade.

3. No U.S. shipowners could engage in the Cuban trade.

4. U.S. ports would be closed to any ship which sought to come to the United States on the same voyage in which it engaged in Cuba-bloc trade.

Safecrackers Hit Paragould

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)—Safecrackers took $3,200 in cash and checks about midnight Saturday from the Paragould Dr. Pepper bottling plant.

Plant Manager Francis Bland said they climbed a chain link fence and got into the plant through a back door.

Police Chief Sam Hunt said apparently a sledge hammer, punches and chisels were used to open a walk-in vault and crack the safe inside. "It was a professional job," Bland said.

A small safe in the office also was opened, but Bland said it was empty.

Police Capt. Lloyd Hill discovered the burglary when, while making rounds of stores, he spotted a change box on the floor inside the plant.

Bland said daily reports also were stolen from the safe.

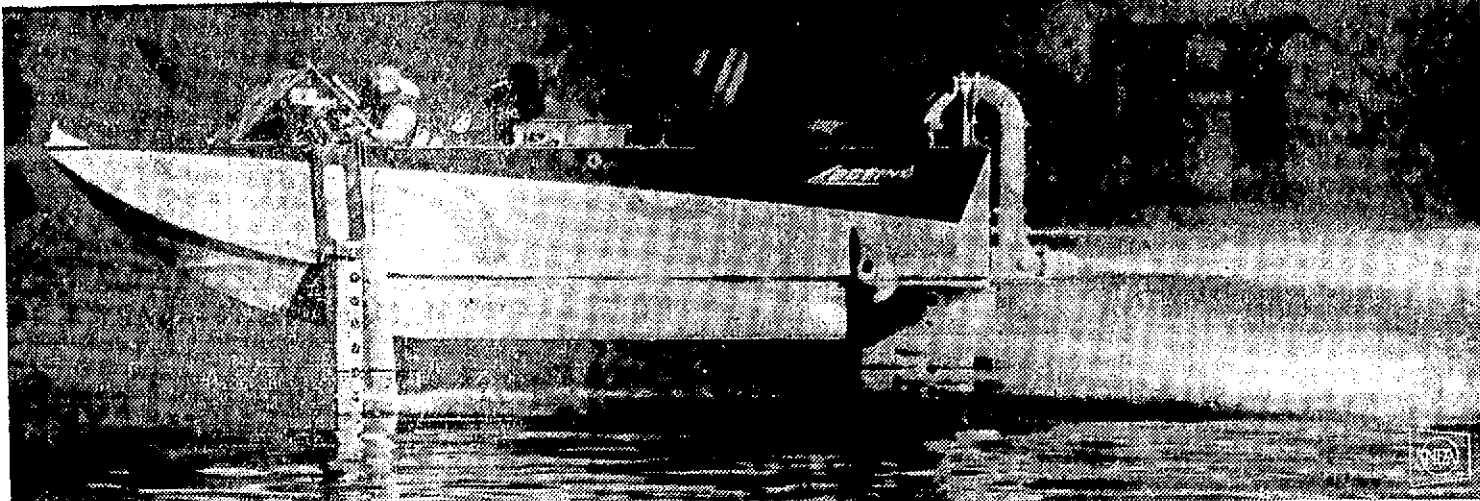

Hunt said today no arrests had been made.

Sorority Stakes

OCEANPORT, N.J. (AP) — Monmouth Park reported today a total of 1,181 nominations for the track's two $100,000 races for 2-year-olds next summer—the sapling and the Sorority Stakes.

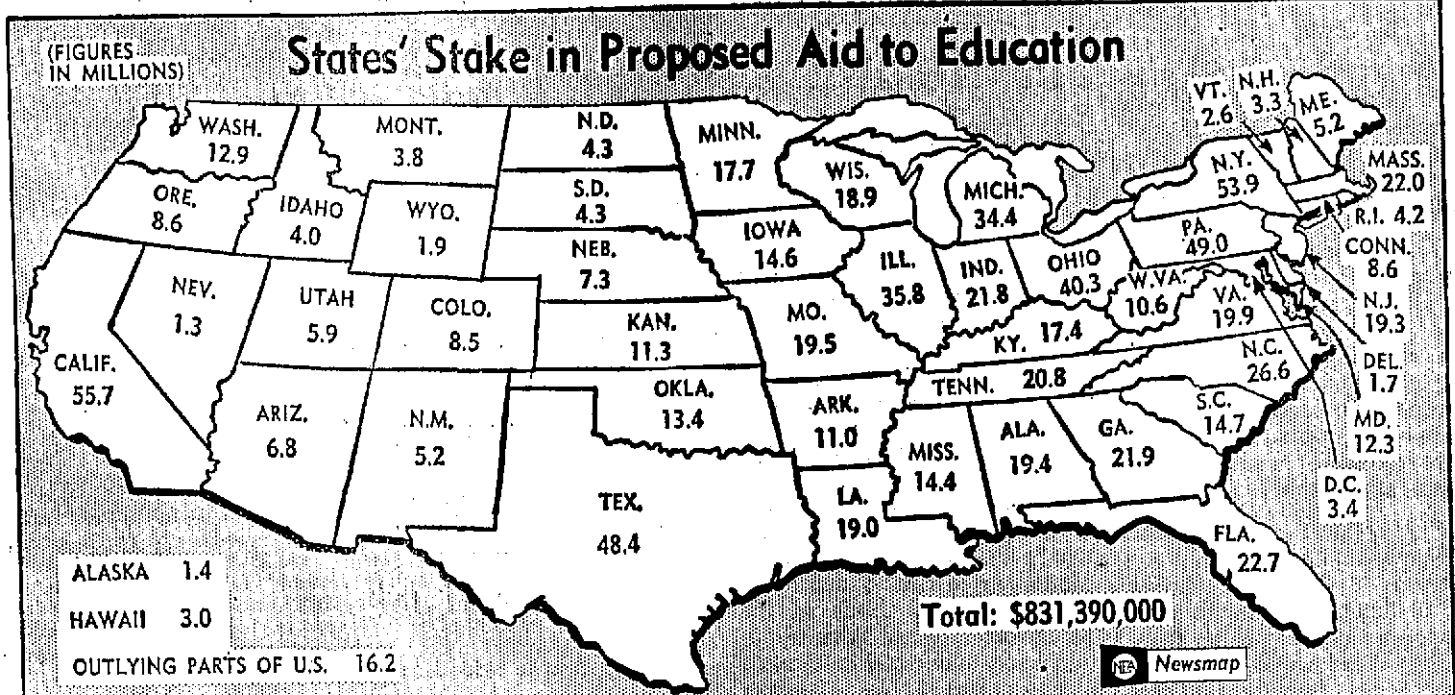

Players Sign

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pitchers Jack Hamilton, 24, and Billy Smith, 28, have become the 17th and 18th players to sign their 1963 contracts with the Philadelphia Phillies, the National Baseball League club announced today.

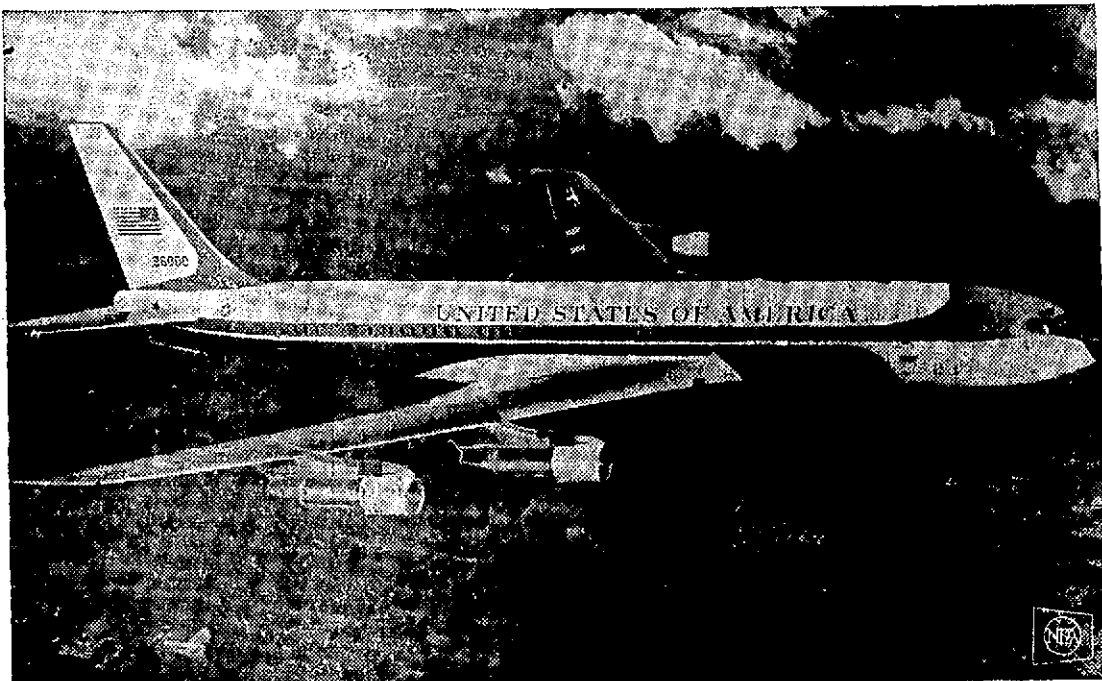

GOES WITH A GUSH—Trailing a 30-foot stream of water behind it, the "Pump Jet," an experimental hydrofoil, makes its public debut on Lake Washington at Seattle. The 20-foot-long craft, built by Boeing Co., is designed to reach speeds of more than 45 miles an hour using a jet of water for propulsion. A scoop built into the aft strut takes water into the boat and a high-speed centrifugal pump jets it out through a nozzle. The effect is the same as that of an aircraft jet engine. The result is that the 2½-ton craft is propelled forward fast enough for its hydrofoils, or underwater wings, to lift it so that it "flies" several feet above the surface.

PRESIDENT'S PLANE—This sleek, new Boeing VC-137C was recently delivered to the Special Air Missions squadron of the U.S.A.F. Military Air Transport Service. It is designed for use by the President and, when not used by him, for other high-ranking government officials and foreign dignitaries visiting the United States. A special version of the familiar Boeing 707 in domestic airlines service, the VC-137C has a range of 7,000 miles and speed of more than 550 miles an hour.

SECOND GENERATION PAST "STEAM"—New line of diesel-electric locomotives in the 2,000-2,400-h.p. range is going into production. They will outdate typical 1,600-h.p. units built in the 1948-1952 period—the diesels which put the Iron Horse out to pasture. Some 5,000 to 6,000 of the new "ancient" diesels are expected to be replaced within the next five years, according to Alco Products president William G. Miller, shown with model of the new locomotive, above.

Youth Freezes to Death at Portland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A teen-aged boy froze to death early Sunday and a man died in a fire at Lepanto, putting the violent death toll for Arkansas for the week ended midnight Sunday at 10.

David Dalton, 17, of near Portland, froze to death within 100 yards of his home, Chicot County Sheriff John Biggs said.

The boy's car had run into a ditch on a muddy country road near his home and the boy had attempted to walk to his house.

He apparently was out in the cold pre-dawn weather about nine hours, the sheriff said.

The boy's home is located between Portland and Chicot.

Troy Watkins, 56, a farm worker, died in a fire that destroyed a storage shed in which he had living quarters at Lepanto Sunday.

Roy Savage, owner of the farm, said he discovered the fire when he went to see Watkins. The fire apparently started when Watkins used gasoline to prime a fire.

Also during the week traffic accidents claimed five lives, fires killed one other, one was shot to death and one was asphyxiated.

Powell Says Hoffa Has Made Bond

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., said today that an Indianapolis bonding company has issued a bond for James R. Hoffa's Teamsters Union.

The Landrum-Griffin Act requires bonding of union officers.

Powell, chairman of the House Labor Committee, said Frank Wright of the United Bonding Co. of Indianapolis notified him today that the company was writing the Teamsters bond and had obtained reinsurance from the American Mutual Co.

Hoffa, president of the Teamsters, had charged that the Justice Department was exerting pressure on all the bonding companies in the country to prevent them from issuing the Teamsters bond.

Hoffa contended that when the union's present bond expires Feb. 8 he would be forced to shut down all union financial activities.

Hoffa asked for and got a hearing before Powell's committee last Friday to air his charges.

Under questioning, Hoffa said he had no personal knowledge that any government official had pressured anyone.

Several committee members told Hoffa he had failed to back up the charges against Justice Department and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

A Justice Department spokesman testified and denied Hoffa's charges.

The attorney general, in a letter to a committee member, suggested that the reason Hoffa was having bonding difficulty was because he dealt through a Chicago insurance agent reputed to have underworld connections.

At the close of the hearing Friday, Powell sent telegrams to about 250 bonding companies asking their specific reasons for not

Mona Completes Capital Mission

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mona Lisa, a lady of record-shattering popularity, completed her good will mission to the capital today and hit the road for New York.

Her small black van, accompanied by a cavalcade of Secret Service men and VIPs of the art world, headed for the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York.

There, from Feb. 7 to March 4, Leonardo da Vinci's masterpiece will direct her famous smile at New Yorkers.

In Washington, the smile had worked wonders. Altogether 518,535 people saw her during her 27-day stay. This is a record for such a special exhibit at the National Gallery of Art.

For comparison purposes, officials noted that normal attendance at the gallery for an entire year is about a million. Mona drew more than half that number in less than a month.

On loan from the Paris Louvre, the Mona Lisa will return to Paris after her New York viewing.

issuing a bond to the Teamsters. Hoffa also sent out a broadside of telegrams asking bonding companies to write a bond directly for the union.

17 Foot Pole Vault Is Nearer

By BOB GREEN Associated Press Sports Writer

A fantastic 17-foot pole vault suddenly has become a possibility and may be achieved in the near future, perhaps this month. Pentti Nikula, a wiry Finn who soared a startling 16 feet 8 inches over the weekend, hopes to make the 17-foot flight in the U.S. National AAU championships in New York's Madison Square Garden Feb. 23.

There he will compete against about a half dozen other athletes who have bettered the once seemingly unconquerable 16-foot barrier.

Among them is Dave Tork, Charleston, W.Va., who cleared 16-2 1/2 in Toronto less than two weeks ago, vowed that 17 feet could be done and said he thought he was the man to do it.

Nikula, who holds the listed world record at 16-2 1/2 is gunning for 17 feet.

"It came as no surprise to me," the vaulting wizard said after his 16-8 1/2 leap Saturday in an indoor meet at Pajulahti, Finland, an obscure resort village.

"I am in top shape and will shoot for 17 feet next time."

The performance came as a warm-up for Pentti who plans to leave Feb. 20 for several U.S. meets, with the AAU championship No. 1.

His vault was 5 1/2 inches higher than any other man has ever vaulted, but will not be submitted for a world record since it was accomplished indoors. Indoor performances are not recognized as official records by the International Track and Field Federation.

On the same night, Rolando Cruz, a Puerto Rican-born vaulter competing for Villanova, became the eighth man to go over 16 feet when he cleared 16 feet 1/4 inch in the Philadelphia Inquirer Games.

Like Nikula, Tork and the other 16-foot vaulters, he used a fiber glass pole to flip over the once unheard of height. The 16-foot vault-first accomplished by German-born U.S. Marine John Uel was a year ago now is becoming almost common place.

The best previous mark was 16-3 1/4 by Yang, in an indoor meet the week before.

Approximately 400,000 tourists visited Puerto Rico each year.

Malvern Beats Bobcats in District Play

By CARTER HARDAGE

Saturday night could have turned out to be a bad dream for Hope, but it wasn't. The Malvern Juniors edged Hope 33-31, but then the Leopards whipped the Senior Boys 64-53 in a crushing Conference defeat.

Hope's Junior Boys had beaten Malvern 32-16 there, in their last meeting, but they had the tables turned on them in an upset. Although the Kittens had the Cubs 7-5 after the Quarter, Malvern ran up to 19 to Hope's 15 at the Half. The Bobkittens edged to 27-25 at the Third Quarter, and had a 31-29 lead with less than a minute to go, when the Cubs scored on two free throws to make it 31 all with only 25 second left. However, a 1-1 foul shot had put Malvern ahead 33-31 when they buzzer sounded. A group of Bobkittens, which shall remain nameless, promised this writer that "that kind of thing, won't happen again, and that's a promise."

Ronnie Ingram was high scorer for Hope with 13 points. Ramsey had 8, Watkins 5, McGill 3, and Parris 2.

A scoreboard that wouldn't stop, a press that didn't work, a tall Malvern squad, and just plain bad luck combined to stop the Cats short of an important Conference victory. Malvern gained a 16-12 jump on Hope by the Quarter, but went on to a 32-21 advantage for the Half. The Cats came closer to 44-33 at the Quarter, but it was to no avail as they fell 64-53. Earl Ray Murphy was high with 17 points. Also scoring were: Jones 14; McLarty, Porterfield, and Russell 6 each; Burnett 3; and Foster 1. The second one comes Friday night, when second-place Ouachita gets a chance to avenge a defeat at the hands of State Teachers earlier this season. The Baptists meet the Bears at Arkadelphia.

But this year Tech, winner of the AIC cage title the last two times around, is laboring in fifth place and ASTC is a distant third. Arkansas A&M strengthened its hold on first place last week by beating Henderson and State Teachers, in that order. Ouachita stayed close by beating Ozarks 71-66.

Both A&M and Ouachita have two defeats on their records, but the Boll Weevils have 10 victories to 9 for Ouachita.

In other action Tuesday night, Ozarks ravel to Searcy to meet Harding. Hendrix battles Southern State at Magnolia and Ouachita plays Little Rock U. at Little Rock.

Friday's games also include Henderson at Southern State, A&M at Ozarks and LRU at Mississippi College.

Griffith in KO Victory in Denmark

By RONALD THOMPSON

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Powerful Emilie Griffith, fresh from his technical knockout victory over

Denmark's Chris Christensen, was in the third round with a jar-

of his world middleweight championship in the next four months.

The hard-hitting Virgin Islander signed to meet Brian Curvis of Wales on the Welshman's home grounds early in June. He came to terms with Jack Solomons, the British promoter, shortly after smashing Christensen with piling driving lefts and rights to end their bout in the ninth round.

Referee Robert Seidel of Switzerland stopped the bout as Christensen slumped helplessly against the ropes in a fight that was billed for the junior middleweight title although Griffith is the recognized champion in this division only in Austria. The World Boxing Association recognizes Denny Moyer

of Portland, Ore. as the titleholder.

Griffith is expected to defend his 160-pound crown against Luis Rodriguez, an exiled Cuban, next month. Curvis defends his British Empire welterweight championship against England's Tony Smith in London Feb. 12.

Griffith, who now lives in New York, was very tough on Christensen. He sent the Dane to the canvas in the third round with a jar-of his world middleweight championship in the next four months.

Razorbacks in Key Victory Over A&M

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —

The Arkansas Razorbacks pulled into a tie for second place in the Southwest Conference Conference basketball race Saturday by defeating Texas A&M 66-55 in Fayetteville.

The victory gave Arkansas a 3-2 conference record — which they will be trying to improve Tuesday night when they meet Texas Tech at Lubbock.

Tech is 2-3 in conference action, but Razorback Coach Glen Rose isn't selling the Raiders short.

"I don't think we've ever beaten them on their own court," he said. "They played A&M an overtime game in Lubbock."

In Saturday night's game, Arkansas led most of the way with Senior Skippy Coffman thwarting scoring attempts of Benny Lenox, A&M's big gun. Lenox still managed 14 points, 12 on free throws, to led the Aggie attack.

Arkansas was led by Tommy Boyer, who scored 24 points, including five long field goals. Larry Wofford sacked 17 for the Razorbacks.

The Hogs went out front with more than 10 minutes to go in the first half on a 15 footer by Boyer. It was 30-26, Arkansas, at the half.

The Razorbacks moved quickly further out in front during the second half and with more than 11 minutes left, led by 14.

After that, A&M began closing the gap and with 1:51 left, the score was 59-53, Arkansas. Then Coffman made a layup and free throw and then stole the ball and passed to Wofford for two more points, which ended the A&M threat.

In a preliminary game, the Shoats defeated Oklahoma City 69-64.

business leader

The unquestioned leader in advertising today is the daily newspaper.

Last year, advertisers invested $3.6 billion in daily newspapers—far more than in any other medium.

Many were national advertisers. But many more were retailers who have always depended heavily on newspapers for local business because nothing else can do the job as well. These local advertisers—business leaders in their own communities—invested approximately $2 billion in newspapers last year. That's more than they put in radio, TV, and outdoor combined!

The leader has authority, believability, trustworthiness. That's why 100 million people turn to newspapers for information on an average day.
